Annual Report 2018-19

Good Shepherd Center

A hot meal. A warm bed. A return path to housing.

Dear Friends of Good Shepherd,

2018 was certainly a challenging year as Hurricane Florence turned all our lives upside down. We were humbled to be at the forefront of helping our guests and neighbors during and after the storm. We worked with the county, FEMA, and other agencies to ensure that our neighbors had shelter, cleaning supplies, and food immediately following Florence's devastation.

On the heels of the Village Shopping Center fire earlier in the year, the hurricane impacted an already struggling community and we responded by increasing our food giveaway program to five days a week, sharing not only healthy food and fresh produce but also bleach and household items so vital after a hurricane. We purchased additional beds and cots for our dorms and converted our conference room to a family room, helping not only our formerly homeless guests but also newly displaced neighbors.

Kate Woodbury and Katrina Knight

Despite the challenges, including an acute shortage of affordable rental housing, Good Shepherd's staff and volunteers continued to work tirelessly and diligently, and we are excited to have already rehoused over 200 homeless men, women, and families with children since last July!

Within the pages of this Annual Report are photos and stories reflective of the year. To those of you who responded with checks and donations, we are deeply grateful. To those of you who attended our events which support our programs and services, we thank you. To our 500+ volunteers who rally around us 365 days a year, picking up and sorting food, delivering food boxes, preparing and serving meals, working our front desk checking in guests for lunch or the Night Shelter, working with our Veterans at the Ashley Center or supporting our residents at SECU Lakeside Reserve, serving on our event committees or helping out in our office—you are the heart and soul of Good Shepherd and we could not do what we do without each of you.

If you have not seen Good Shepherd, the Ashley Center, or SECU Lakeside Reserve, we encourage you to give us a call. We would be honored to show you what you have made possible. Your support continues to inspire us and encourages us to keep working for an end to hunger and homelessness in our community. Our success is your success and we appreciate each of you.

Gratefully,

Katrina R. Knight

Hurricane Florence at Good Shepherd

For some of us, Florence was our first “real” hurricane. For those more experienced, it was no less horrific.

Many evacuated, still many stayed. When your mission is to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless and foster transition to housing, a hurricane adds another level of crisis to your everyday crisis response efforts.

Volunteers helped evacuate our homeless guests to county storm shelters. National organizations came to town, including the American Red Cross and FEMA. They looked to Good Shepherd for assistance responding to the needs of pre- and post-storm homeless alike.

Good Shepherd Center

A hot meal. A warm bed. A return path to housing.

Staff, volunteers, and certainly our guests were all affected but we were quick to reopen within a week. Then the aftermath began. There were the hungry, and we fed them. There were those who returned from evacuating and many more newly displaced seeking shelter. We provided water, bleach, blankets. The things you take for granted until you are in the eye of the storm.

Good Shepherd “blue” was all over town in the form of tarps. Dwellings no longer fit for habitation.

In our own backyard, there were scores of trees to remove. A pine cone became a projectile during the winds and shot right through a window in one of our vans at the Ashley Center. That van provides the transportation for our Veterans needing to go grocery shopping or to a medical appointment at the VA. Florence blew pieces of our garden shed all over the block. Two roofs—at the Ashley Center and Good Shepherd—needed repair and replacement. The increase of nearly 30% in demand necessitated the purchase of additional bunk beds for the women’s dorm. Others, including families, slept on borrowed cots as we converted our meeting room to sleeping space to respond to overflow demand for safe shelter.

At every turn, our community responded with needed supplies and donations.

Today we are back in "hurricane season." We are still a bit fragile but strong too. For all of us—the staff, volunteers, board of directors, donors—who give our time, money and effort to the mission of Good Shepherd, the highlight of this fiscal year will remain the more than 200 homeless adults and children who have made a successful return to housing.

Despite Florence.

Thank you to all of you who rallied with your hands, your hearts, your time, and your money.

You made our most challenging year also our most inspired one. ■

Clockwise from above: emergency supplies delivered by Duke University athletes, collected by churches in the Triangle; Good Shepherd guests evacuated to Trask Middle School; cots were set up in the conference room; emergency supplies donated by a neighborhood group; additional bunk beds were purchased for the womens dorm.

Sgt. Eugene Ashley Center

Thanks to our friends at Duke Energy, the gardens at the Sgt. Eugene Ashley Center are bountiful! Crews from Duke's Sutton Plant worked tirelessly to till the soil, plant, and weed. The results are healthy produce on the table for our Veterans and men with disabilities including broccoli, peppers, and squash.

SECU Lakeside Reserve

Phase II Completion

Almost two years to the day after opening SECU Lakeside Reserve and the first 16 units of affordable housing for chronically homeless adults with a disability, Phase II and an additional 24 units opened in June. Six additional buildings, or quads, were constructed with three on the Stadium Drive side and three on the W. Lake Shore Drive side. Each quad contains four apartments. Like the original units, each 660 square foot apartment is fully furnished and contains all the amenities of home including linens, cleaning supplies, and a fully stocked kitchen. We are excited to welcome our newest neighbors to SECU Lakeside Reserve.

If you are interested in supporting this effort to provide a solution to homelessness for our most fragile neighbors, please contact Jane Birnbach at 910-763-4423 x110 or at jbirnbach@goodshepherdwilmington.org for more information.
