BUILDING HOME

Dear Friends,

Looking back on this year, one phrase comes to mind: Building Home. It became something we could see, touch, and celebrate as Good Shepherd opened the doors to SECU The Sparrow, creating 32 new homes for chronically homeless individuals with significant disabilities.

We are reminded of the old story of a sparrow carrying water in its beak, drop by drop, trying to help put out a great fire. When asked why such a small bird would bother attempting something so impossible, the sparrow simply answers, "I need to know that I tried to help."

That is the heart of this work.

As with the Sparrow at Good Shepherd, building home happens one act at a time. A meal served with kindness. A safe bed in a moment of crisis. A Case Manager helping someone take the next step. A new apartment door opening. A neighbor beginning to believe stability is possible again.

This year, we saw once again that no one builds home alone. Staff, volunteers, donors, partners, and guests each carried their part. Together, drop by drop, step by step, we helped create safety, dignity, and lasting solutions for our neighbors.

Thank you for being one of the sparrows. Thank you for doing what you can. And thank you for helping us build home for the neighbors who need us most.

With deepest gratitude,

Home for Good

A Campaign for Permanent Solutions to Homelessness

Good Shepherd Center

12.5m in current gifts | 9m to goal | 21.5m

Good Shepherd Center's Capital Campaign Home for Good will:

- Create more than 60 apartments for chronically homeless individuals with disabilities, including seniors and Veterans;
- Expand our homeless services campus, including a new family shelter with increased capacity, dedicated play space, and rehousing supports;
- Build on 40+ years of service to the Cape Fear community, using Best Practice, data driven interventions to help homeless individuals and families transition to permanent housing, stability, and an improved quality of life

32 Residents Moving In This Summer

Our newest Permanent Supportive Housing community, SECU The Sparrow, is fully funded and has welcomed 32 chronically homeless adults with significant disabilities into affordable housing with on-site supportive services.

On the Horizon

Good Shepherd is fundraising to expand our Martin Street campus with increased services space, a new family shelter that will double our capacity, and additional Permanent Supportive Housing for the chronically homeless.

Last year, Good Shepherd helped 267 homeless adults and children move into safe, stable housing. With your support, we can do even more.

Be part of the solution. To connect, call 910.763.4424 ext.104 or email kknight@goodshepherdwilmington.org.

32 Apartments. 32 Fresh Starts. 32 Opportunities for Stability.

On Friday, May 8, community leaders, donors, partners, and friends gathered to celebrate the ribbon cutting of SECU The Sparrow, Good Shepherd Center's newest supportive housing community for chronically homeless individuals with significant disabilities.

For years, this project represented a vision: that our community could move beyond merely responding to homelessness and instead invest in lasting solutions. Thanks to the City of Wilmington, NC Housing Finance Agency, SECU Foundation, and countless community supporters, that vision is now reality.

But the true celebration began just days later.

As residents moved in, apartment by apartment, the building became more than bricks and mortar. It became home.

SECU The Sparrow offers 32 individual apartments designed to foster stability, with the support residents need to remain successfully housed. The community includes an on-site medical clinic, two full-time case managers, a community room, a multipurpose space, 24-hour laundry and a beautiful courtyard for connection and reflection.
Each key handed over marked the beginning of a new chapter—one built on safety, dignity, and the opportunity to gain a true quality of life.

Because everyone deserves a place to call home.

HOME MAKES ALL THE Difference

At SECU The Sparrow, supportive housing is more than a place to live—it's the foundation for a better tomorrow.

For many residents, moving into SECU The Sparrow marks the first time in years they have had a place of their own.

It is the first opportunity to decorate a space, choose where to hang a picture, stock a refrigerator, or simply close the door at the end of the day and know they are safely at home.

As residents continue to settle in, apartments are gradually becoming reflections of the people who live in them. New routines are taking shape. Neighbors are getting to know one another. Community is beginning to grow.

That sense of belonging extends far beyond the walls of the building. Congregations, community donors, partners, and volunteers helped furnish apartments and stock household essentials, making SECU The Sparrow a true community effort from the moment residents walked through the door.

> "The first time I walked through the door, I couldn't believe it was mine."
> -Resident

Did You Know

Chronically homeless people living in supportive housing are significantly more likely to remain housed long-term, reducing returns to homelessness.

Supportive housing improves physical and mental health by connecting residents to healthcare, case management, and other critical services.

By reducing reliance on emergency rooms, shelters, and crisis systems, supportive housing creates healthier, safer, and more stable communities for everyone.

Thank you to these community partners and many donors whose generosity made SECU The Sparrow possible

Robbie's Story:
The Sound of Coming Home

A devastating health diagnosis changed Robbie's life, disrupting his ability to work and eventually leaving him without a home.

Through it all, he held onto his music, continuing to play guitar and share that part of himself with others.

At Good Shepherd, Robbie found shelter, support, and people who walked beside him as he worked toward stability.
Then one day, the bell rang.

At Good Shepherd, that sound means someone is leaving shelter for housing.

Today, Robbie has a home of his own and a new chapter ahead.

His story is a reminder that home can be the beginning of what comes next.

Meet La'Quetta:
Home Means Possibility

La'Quetta was working two jobs and completing clinical hours for her Certified Nursing Assistant certification while raising three children. Then housing instability disrupted everything.

Despite how hard she was working, La'Quetta and her children found themselves without a home.

At Good Shepherd, her family found the support and stability they needed to begin moving forward again.

Today, La'Quetta and her children are settling into their own apartment. For her family, home means knowing where they will sleep each night, having space to rest and study, and being able to think beyond the next emergency.

La'Quetta plans to return to school and continue her journey toward becoming a Licensed Practical Nurse.

Housing did not create her determination. She already had that. It gave her determination room to grow.

The Shepherd Society recognizes and honors individuals who have chosen to support Good Shepherd Center through a planned or legacy gift.

These thoughtful commitments help ensure that our work to feed the hungry, shelter the homeless, and foster transition to housing continues for generations to come.

Planned gifts create lasting impact—providing stability for our mission and helping more neighbors move from crisis to housing in the years ahead.

To learn more about the Shepherd Society or to have a confidential conversation about legacy giving, please contact Meagan Hutchings at mhutchings@goodshepherdwilmington.org or (910) 763-4424 x101.
